Planmeca ProOne®
Quick guide

Panorama exposure

Preparation

Select support. ❶ Bite piece ❷ Chin cup ❸ Chin rest	❶ ❷ ❸
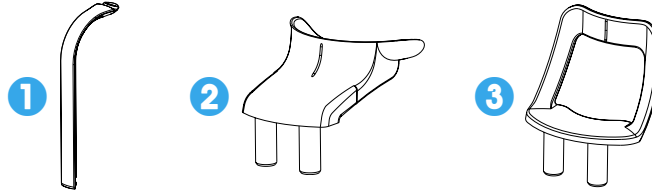

| Select program.
	Basic program (Standard)	Traditional beam path and angles.
	Interproximal panoramic program (Advanced program, optional)	Used in the detection of caries.
	Orthogonal panoramic program (Advanced program, optional)	X-ray beam perpendicular to the jaw. Practical for examination of the gums.
	Panoramic program for Bitewing (Bitewing, optional)	Produces images similar to Bitewing images.

Select patient size.

Patient positioning

❶ Position the patient's head so that the Frankfort plane is aligned with the Frankfort plane light beam. ❷ Position the patient's head so that the midsagittal plane is aligned with the midsagittal plane light beam. ❸ Position the patient so that the apices of the upper central incisors are within the unit's image layer (focal trough).	❶ ❷ ❸
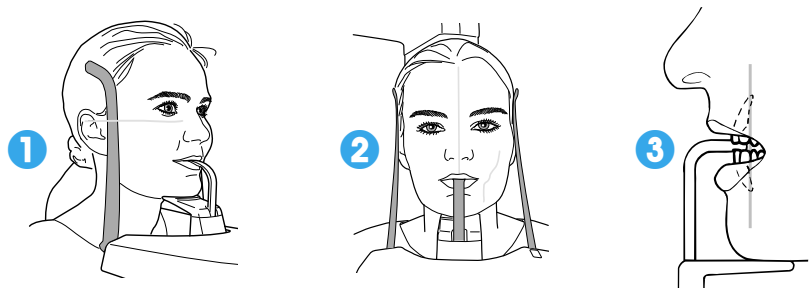

Exposure

Press the exposure button and hold down for the duration of the exposure.

PLANMECA